

2017 FCA Idaho Couples Getaway Speakers - Jeff & Stacy Kemp!

Jeff and Stacy Kemp have been a dynamic team for over 30 years. They married in 1983, journeyed through eleven years in the NFL, raised four sons and have dedicated themselves to their family and helping other families.

Stacy is from Fullerton, California and graduated with a business marketing degree from University of Southern California. She is a homemaker, mom, bible study teacher and mentor to young moms and couples. She enjoys skiing, tennis, reading and hospitality.

Jeff and Stacy met in California in 1981 when Jeff was a free agent with the Los Angeles Rams. Jeff graduated from Dartmouth College, and then gained an MBA from Pepperdine. He and his father Jack Kemp (former Vice-Presidential candidate and Secretary of Housing and Urban Development) were the first of only six sets of father/son NFL quarterbacks. After an 11-year career with the Rams, Forty-Niners, Seahawks and Eagles, he transitioned into service for others.

In 1992 Jeff founded Stronger Families, a non-profit dedicated to strengthening communities and military families. He's produced over 700 radio features, and delivered nearly 1,000 presentations and training sessions for organizations, businesses, churches and groups reaching men, marriages and families.

Jeff serves as a vice-president at FamilyLife, a national leader in marriage conferences, media outreach and empowering resources for families. He is the author of Facing The Blitz-Three Strategies for Turning Trials Into Triumphs.

Stacy and Jeff have four sons, three daughters-in-law, and make their home in Little Rock, Arkansas.
